REZONING OF ALBANY PROPOSED UNDER NEW BUILDING ORDINANCE

In order to regulate, restrict and segregate the location of industries, places of business, apartments and residences, as well as to regulate and control the height and size of buildings erected, Albany plans a revision of its zoning ordinances.

Creation of a new district, within the city, to be known as "three story commercial highway district" was unanimously approved at its first meeting before the Albany City Council Monday evening.

To become a law the ordinance must come up for vote at a second meeting and have no protests filed within 30 days.

The city will be divided into seven districts: first residential, second residential, three-story commercial, four-story commercial, light and heavy industrial and three-story commercial highway.

Also approved was the first reading of an ordinance which regulates architectural supervision of all buildings to be constructed, or which may be reconstructed or improved, in any commercial or industrial zones of the city as they now are, or may be hereafter created.

In answer to a previous request of the Council "as to whether or not the governing body has the right to tax on private property to abate a nuisance and charge the cost to the property owners, similar to the procedure being followed in weed burning," a communication was read from City Attorney Joseph Young.

Young, stating that the city has no ordinance covering the abatement of a rat nuisance. The letter added that the Council has the right to adopt an ordinance for rats or any other nuisance, the harboring of which would be detrimental to the health or welfare of the citizens and the correction of which would unquestionably be a measure involving the health safety of the city.

The report further stated State law applicable to the question can be taken advantage of by Albany. These include one which provides that "every person possessing any place that is infested with rodents, or upon whose presence comes to his knowledge, should exterminate them." It empowers the State department, the supervisors of any county or local health officers to inspect the premises and if they determine health, or property damage, is involved, to appropriate money and exterminate the rats. No action was taken by the Council pending further consideration.

Free-School Mothers Meet

Christmas Issues Appeal

FOR MORE WORKERS

Though 1,033,964 articles were mailed out during the past year by the AWVS, Volunteer Workers, Army and Navy Emergency Relief Societies urge even greater production since necessities have lessened as the war in the Pacific increases in intensity.

With work starting early on Christmas boxes for service men, the AWVS is in need of volunteers to complete requests from hospitals, Navy Relief and United States Service.

The steady flow of gifts, lanterns, lap robes, carpet slippers, scarves and other articles will be uninterrupted for hospital patients, states Mrs. Bryan Smith, chairman of production.

Mrs. Caroline Donnelly, production coordinator, reports that a request from the Navy for surgical dressings has resulted in a record 10,000 completed dressings during the past three weeks. Northside Community Church and New Hall groups, supplemented by

DOG OWNERS ATTENTION!

Now is the time for all dog owners to purchase that new license. Unlicensed dogs will be impounded and the owner will be required to pay additional fees for their release.

All dogs must wear a tag while on the street in accord with the city ordinance, Humane Officer Walter Asher warns.

River Bridges Now Toll Free For Motorists

It takes gas to get there but it doesn't cost anything to cross 'em now.

Cross what? Why, the Antioch and Carquinez bridges over the Sacramento river.

Placed in operation 18 years ago these two spans became toll free to motorists at midnight on July 31. This is nearly three years ahead of the toll free date estimated by engineers when the state bought the structures from the American Toll Bridge Company.

The bridges were constructed privately under franchises from the Contra Costa board of supervisors. They were opened to traffic early in 1927, and the State took over September 16, 1940, agreeing to pay approximately $6,500,000.

Increased revenues accruing from heavy wartime traffic enabled the State to retire the bridge bonds considerably ahead of the estimated 1948 date.

War Experiences Told Exchanges

At the regular Tuesday evening meeting of the Albany Exchange Club members were addressed by Sgt. Gerard Sharkey when he told of combat experiences in the European Theatre of Operations. Sharkey was with the 85th troop carrier squadron.

Some 10 or 12 years ago Superintendent of Recreation Ed Howell led an orchestra composed of Albany boys in which Sgt. Sharkey was the drummer and to prove to his "old maestro" that he had not neglected his musical education he played several piano selections.

Other speakers appearing on the program were Bob Miller who spoke on "Drugs Unlimited," Harvey Cornell told members "Why Photography Is Not a Set-Up" and George Glavinovich enlightened Exchanges and guests on "The 5:02 Blues."

President Ed Howell presided at this meeting and announced the coming baseball game between the Exchange Club and the El Cerrito YML on August 5.

Henry Henriksen was named chairman for August 7.

Many Post-War Problems to Face Growing Albany

The following article was written by Mrs. Beatrice Raymond, executive secretary and manager of Albany's Chamber of Commerce for the 1945 publication of the Oakland Tribune Year Book, recently off the press:

The Post-War future of the City of Albany poses many intriguing problems for this community. How many of our population of more than 20,000 will remain here when war's production demands cease? What part will this city, nominally a residential area, play in Metropolitan Oakland's inevitable industrial expansion? How may we adjust our future realignment to best afford our permanent peace-time residents the greatest attainable civic comforts?

The Post-War Planning Committee, the Citizens Committee and the Chamber of Commerce are approaching these questions objectively. No roseate attitude hides the commonly accepted belief that the transition period is going to demand the utmost in concerted effort to prevent major disarrangement.

Albany, however, does not anticipate difficulties to the same degree as those which face its sister cities of the Metropolitan area. It has little in the way of major industry; hence it is not concerned with reconversion, of possible complete closure of plants which have been born of war needs alone.

This city's post-war design centers on home building—much of which will be needed if it is to retain many of the residents now housed in "duration" dwellings. The city's location on the northern approach to Metropolitan Oakland, which provides quick and easy access to main business districts, the University of California, San Francisco and the county resort areas, makes it a practical location for a home.

The city is host to a multi-million-dollar United States Government establishment, the Western Regional Research Laboratory—a permanent installation which is one of four similar institutions situated strategically throughout the Nation.

It has a comprehensive retail trading area conducted by merchants alert to modern demands upon business. It has a progressive school system of elementary and high school grades. And it has an efficient city government and adequate police and fire protection.

Despite the influx of residents during the past few years there is a notable civic solidarity amongst the residents. Wholehearted cooperation has been given to all civic undertakings, and the ready response to campaigns for war funds has enabled Albany to exceed its quota every time despite the lack of corporation funds' support which has bolstered other cities' war bond selling drives.

The greatest test of this cohesion, however, will come when the war is over—and the Chamber of Commerce is confident that the strain will not too great.

Future Gas Blanks Now Being Mailed By Local Board

The Gasoline Panel of the Albany War Price and Rationing Board No. 83.1.11 advise that in order to make it more convenient for motorists and also to lighten the work at the Board, applications for gasoline renewals are now being mailed together with the current ration.

Upon receipt of these applications you are asked to keep the blanks for your use in re-applying three months hence, as the former method of mailing applications in advance of expiration dates has been eliminated.

National Eagle President Addresses Meet in Albany

John W. Young, national president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, addressed representatives of 10 Aeries of the Bay Region Sunday afternoon at a special meeting held in the Cornell School auditorium. Thirty-five new members were initiated during the ceremonies, nine as members of the local Aerie.

The subordinate Aeries represented included Seattle, Chicago, Santa Rosa, Hanover, Penna., Berkeley, San Mateo, East Oakland, Fresno, San Francisco No. 5, Golden Gate No. 61, Antioch, Pittsburg, Alameda, Richmond, Martinez, Albany and Pinole.

George Glavinovich, president of the local lodge, presided at the meeting which found the following Albany men becoming members of the order: John O'Leary, Richard T. Pearson, John G. Frank, Raymond Gaspari, Rex B. Morgan, Phil D. Lawson, Arthur B. Formento, Joe Villa and Henry Villa.

Eagle dignitaries introduced by Past State President Edward Smith of East Oakland included State President Thomas Gosland, Jr., Past State President Martin Thuesen, State Secretary George Duddy and presidents and past presidents of all of the Aeries represented.

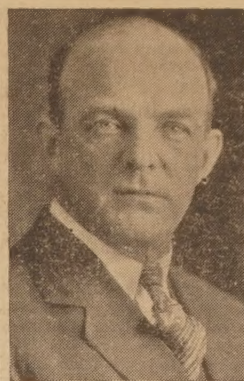

The special degree team composed of Charles Woodstock, Albany; E. B. J. Nute, Alameda; Joseph Perry, Berkeley; Elmer Todd, Antioch; Otto Palombo, Richmond; Kelly Ray, Martinez, and John Finnegan of Pinole, was assisted by the drill team of Antioch and East Oakland.

The national president declared in his talk that the objectives of the Fraternal Order of Eagles must be attained in the fields of social security, juvenile delinquency, full employment and air for returning servicemen if we are to realize a better post war America.

"The Fraternal Order of Eagles is a great melting pot," Young said. "With the exception of the churches, it is the greatest instrumentality for good in the United States. Within our walls flows the blood streams of every warring nation in Europe, and yet we live together in peace, contentment and happiness. If the world had learned to live together, as have our members, there would be no flaming airplanes on high tonight or men impaled on bayonets."

Citing the role of the Eagles in pioneering for and achieving state old age pensions, social security, workmen's compensation and mothers pension laws, Young urged extension of social security, as proposed in pending congressional legislation, so that all Americans may be protected from an impoverished old age. He also urged congressmen to support pending legislation to include agricultural, household, hospital and seasonal workers in the Social Security system. These measures have been endorsed by the Eagles National commission on old age pensions and social security.

The alarming increase in juvenile delinquency calls for concerted action now by Eagles, other community organizations, welfare and law enforcement authorities, he said. Eagles throughout the nation are directing their energies, through local Aerie committees, to provide a decent future for wayward children, and stand ready to cooperate in all worthy undertakings to achieve this goal, he added, pointing out that the Eagle state Aeries of Ohio, Indiana, Washington, New York and other states are sponsoring legislative measures looking toward the establishment of state-supported institutions for neglected children. The Eagles' dormitory at Father Flanagan's Boys Town, erected by Eagles at a cost of $100,000 in 1941, to house 125 youths, demonstrates the interest the organization has in the welfare of juveniles, he said.

Turning to the subject of aid for returning servicemen, the national president said that every veteran, despite the benefits federal and state governments will confer, will need the neighborly assistance of the Eagles and other home groups for readjustment into community life. Local Aeries are enlisting their leaders and using their facilities to provide this aid with "Welcome Home" parties, dissemination of information, help in securing employment, and other means, he pointed out. This program, too, includes letter-writing and sending gifts to keep Eagle servicemen "in contact with the folks in their home town."

"Post war employment must be provided for servicemen and war workers alike if democracy is to function unhampered and the war sacrifices are not to be in vain," he declared.

"Much as the Eagles have accomplished, we realize that much remains to be done to improve our nation and the family system," Young said. "We know that varied and complex problems stemming from the war demand solution, and that many more will emerge to tax our ingenuities and energies in the post war period. Eagles are in the vanguard of progress and using their influence for the realization of sound proposals to improve the conditions of the average working man, the bedrock of our nation and our Order."

Why Not Join Red Cross Class For Nurse's Aides?

The next nurses' aide class conducted by the Red Cross will open on September 3, according to Mrs. Benjamin W. Black, chairman of the Nurses' Aide corps.

More Nurse's Aides are needed in hospitals for two reasons, Mrs. Black explained. First, there is the shortage of nurses, with more leaving all the time to serve with the Army and Navy. Second, Nurse's Aides have proved themselves so satisfactory that their duties in hospitals and health agencies are being constantly enlarged.

You are eligible to become a Nurse's Aide if you are a woman between the ages of 18 and 60; if you are in good health and have a high school education or its equivalent.

The classes are held at Alta Bates Hospital and instruction is given by a registered nurse. It takes 80 hours of training to become a Nurse's Aide. Classes meet daily, Monday through Friday, from 8 to 12, over a four-week period. During this time lectures, demonstrations, and actual work on hospital wards are all part of the training.

Applications for the new class are available now at Berkeley Nurse's Aide headquarters, 2112 Allston Way, or by telephoning Berkeley 1430.

Alameda Co. Gets $227,750 Share in State Gas Taxes

Alameda county will get $227,752 as its share of the state gasoline taxes collected for the quarter ending June 30, 1945, according to State Controller Harry B. Riley.

Contra Costa county's share will be $85,376.

Gas taxes collected during the quarter totaled $10,871,111—$852,533 over the amount apportioned for the corresponding quarter last year, Riley said. Counties received one third of the total apportionment, or $3,623,704, and the remainder was deposited in the State highway fund. Of the latter amount—$7,247,407—Riley will allocate $1,811,852 to be expended for highway purposes within cities.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL EXPANSION SPEEDED

Expansion plans of Children's Hospital of the East Bay, 5105 Dover St., have been given the go-ahead signal by the National War Production Board, William Harold Oliver, hospital chairman, revealed in announcing that the institution has been granted priorities for construction of a $400,000 addition.

Work on the new building will begin as soon as funds are available, Oliver said. Douglas Stone and Lou Mulloy, San Francisco architects, are now completing final drawings, he stated.

Plans for the addition, to provide 65 beds and nearly double inpatient capacity of the hospital, are being rushed in face of a mounting shortage of facilities for child medical care. Children's is the only hospital in the East Bay caring exclusively for youngsters. A two-story and ground floor wing to be added to the present hospital building, the new structure will be of reinforced concrete construction. Open air ramps will lead from the second floor to the terrace below.

Large wards will be equipped with built-in floor connections for portable walls, to permit quick conversion to two or four bed wards, or to private rooms.

At the last meeting of the East Bay Regional Park District held Tuesday, July 31, Richard E. Walpole, District Manager, submitted to the Board of Directors of the East Bay Regional Park District, consisting of Major Charles Lee Tilden, president; Leroy R. Goodrich, vice president; Thomas J. Roberts, secretary; Dr. Aurelia H. Reinhardt, and Emery E. Stone, the tenth anniversary report of the District showing the achievements of the Board during that period.

Cities included in the East Bay Regional Park District are Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Emeryville, Piedmont and San Leandro. One of the highlights of the report was the fact that through the construction of the Anza Dam, the District has saved approximately $90,000 in water bills for the taxpayers of the District, and by the erection of an office at Temescal, approximately $8,000 has been saved in rent. In addition, the rental from park buildings and income from the golf course and concessions has made these park features entirely self-supporting.

The report further stated that during the Board's incumbency, construction, done only when absolutely necessary to furnish needed recreational and then at the least possible cost, has included buildings as the Temescal headquarters, the Kiwanis Hut, the Anza bathhouse, the Tilden Golf Clubhouse and three ranger stations. A huge dam, which not only provides for bathing and boating facilities, but supplies water used on an eighteen-hole golf course, has also been constructed as well as two swimming beaches, 20 miles of paved roads, 35 miles of service roads, foot, horse and fire trails, three clubhouses, 12 playfields, an archery range, over 100 picnic areas and the Ferndale and Channel Island gardens.

Through gradual acquisition of the park properties by the Board, the East Bay Regional Park District has unencumbered ownership of 4411.78 acres of park lands. A total of $1,011,130.38 has been paid for this land.

The District Manager reported an astounding increase in park visitors during the past few years with more than a half million visitors checked in the parks during 1944-45 only.

An extraordinary contribution of the Board of Directors, stated Walpole, was the opportunity for young men to work on projects through the Tilden Park CCC camp. During the depression about 10,000 men were employed in the several parks at different times.

In addition, during the war period, the directors made available to the Army Defense Command camp grounds and facilities for the occupation of various companies and batteries of men and for the maintenance of the radar station, and to the Hospital Corps, land and recreational facilities for convalescent soldiers.

The Board has also reduced the fire hazards of cities adjoining park boundaries by maintaining fire fighting organizations and equipment.

The difference between false and true pleasure is this: for the true, the price is paid before you enjoy it; for the false, after you enjoy it.—John Foster.

HOLLYWOOD — Artificial lights of the evening demand more make-up lightness and brightness than the illumination of the daytime sun. Color effectiveness for the evening can be furthered by the simple device of using face powder, rouge, par-cake, and lipstick one shade lighter than that which is correctly used for the daytime. And lip gloss, applied over the lipstick, also generally works out to be an evening make-up asset. In some cases it is not necessary to change rouge shades in order to gain color for the evening make-up. The rouge shade which is correct for the daytime will often prove to be equally right for the evening if it is applied just a trifle more heavily than it is for daytime wear.

Liquor License Situation Now Being Surveyed

There will be few, if any, new liquor licenses granted in the 18 counties of the Board of Equalization second district on the population basis fixed by the legislature in the bill recently signed by Governor Warren, according to James H. Quinn, second district board member.

The new law permits off-sale and on-sale licenses on the basis of one to each thousand population as reported in the 1940 census, or recognized count of more recent determination of the population in the various counties, Quinn stated.

"But the new law also sets up other regulations which affect the situation," he said, "and the net result in the 18 counties which I represent will tend toward a stabilization of the number of licenses."

"By way of example, places which have sold only beer and wine have heretofore not been included in the count of off-sale or on-sale liquor licenses. But the new law requires such premises to be included in the count when the 1 to a 1000 population restriction is applied."

A survey of the entire situation, county by county, is now being made by the administrative office in Sacramento, Quinn said, and interpretation of new regulatory features is being made by the Attorney General's office for the Board.

"A preliminary survey reveals, however, that the new law will restrict the number of licenses to such an extent that few if any new places can be opened," he declared.

Albany Girl Weds Richmond Man

Sunday afternoon Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kilker of 940 Jackson was married to Merle Eugene Eichholtz, St. Luke's Methodist Church in Richmond. The Rev. L. L. Loof officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she was gown in taffeta, fashioned with a train, which was enhanced by a filmy veil fingertip length, held by a coronet and pearls. She carried an orchid corsage.

Wearing net frocks in harmonized pastel shades, her attendants Helen Hoffer of Albany as maid of honor, and bridesmaids Jean Virginia Young and Georgia of Richmond. They carried fashioned bouquets of white carnations tied with streamers to match the gowns.

The man for the groom was George of Richmond and ushers were Gray, San Francisco; Duane, brother of the bride, and Bill of Albany.

Reception was held at the home of the bride's parents when some 130 guests and relatives extended congratulations to the young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Eichholtz are spending their honeymoon in Lake County and their return will reside in Richmond.

The bride is a graduate of Albany School and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Eichholtz, are in Richmond.

The tendency of modern times is to find something or somebody to do our work at home as we'll have a longer time to do nothing somewhere else.

MEN STILL NEEDED BY MERCHANT MARINES

Mayor Raymond Cleary recently has urged Albany men to join the U. S. Maritime Service and help keep the Merchant Marines staffed with seamen urgently needed to sail merchant vessels leaving West Coast ports.

"At this time when our success in the Pacific depends so much upon the continued strength of our Merchant Marines, I urge all eligible men of Albany to join the United States Maritime Service immediately and put their ability to a task which will really be felt by the enemy," the mayor said.

"Indispensable in time of war, our Merchant Marine will continue to need men and more men until the very day the war ends.

"Men of Albany who wish to avail themselves of the new relaxed qualifications for enrollment in the Maritime Service should present themselves at the earliest possible moment to the enrolling office at San Francisco."

The USMS enrolling office in San Francisco is located at 1000 Geary Street.

Hunting Season Opens! Have You Got Your Red Hat?

Have you got your Red Hat? Sale of the brilliant hued headpieces has been brisk of late because the deer hunting season is now under way.

Districts in which 46 days of shooting will be permitted are Nos. 2 and 3 (except Mendocino County). They include the counties of Sonoma, Marin, Napa, Solano, Yolo, that portion of Colusa lying south of the Ukiah-Lake Tahoe Highway, Alameda, Contra Costa, Santa Clara, San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Cruz, Monterey, San Benito, those portions of Kings and Fresno lying in the Coast Range Mountains, Merced, Stanislaus and San Joaquin, west of the San Joaquin River.

Reports to the State Division of Fish and Game indicated deer are plentiful in nearly all sections, and while a lack of ammunition was said to exist, belief prevailed that almost everyone who owns a deer rifle already has, or can get, shells. Partial lifting of restrictions on "A" gasoline also was expected to bring more hunters into the districts.

The division warned prospective hunters to be sure to obtain their licenses and deer tags, thereby avoiding unpleasant encounters with game wardens. Those expecting to enter a national forest should include in their equipment a shovel and an axe, as well as secure a fire permit from the U. S. Forest Service, it was pointed out. The permits are available at any ranger station.

Areas in which good hunting was promised, according to game warden reports, included:

Napa County—Bucks plentiful in all sections, especially in the northern part, near Lake County, as well as along the Berryessa Range country near Monticello and Knoxville.

Sonoma County—Deer reported within 30 miles of Santa Rosa; other good spots include the coast hill region, Skaggs Springs, Annapolis and Cazadero, where large herds are reported.

Solano County—Bucks plentiful in the mountains near Fairfield and Vacaville.

Lake County—Deer plentiful and in excellent condition.

Colusa County—Good hunting indicated for hill sections west of Arhuckle, also in Sand Creek, Cortina and Rumsey districts.

The most vicious circle is the one where everything revolves around me.

Red Cross to Start
Home Nursing Course

"We are sitting on a tinder box that may explode any time into epidemics—such as followed the first World War!"

Such was the statement made by Miss Iva Godshalk, field representative from the Pacific area of the American Red Cross, at a recent meeting at Berkeley chapter headquarters, to discuss the home nursing classes opening August 13.

"Right now, more than ever, women trained in home nursing are needed," she continued. "Doctors and nurses are scarce—and will remain so. Women with a knowledge of even a few of the basic nursing skills can stop the spread of an epidemic. They can meet emergencies in their homes when no doctor is available. They can make the wounded veteran on sick leave as comfortable at home as he was at the hospital. And many a sick veteran has asked to return to his hospital because he was not getting the right care at home. Women not only owe it to their families—but to their communities—to take advantage of the home nursing classes offered through the Red Cross."

There are still a few places open in the morning and afternoon classes which start August 13 and continue for one week. Classes are limited to 10. According to Mrs. Tracy Crawford, vice chairman of home nursing for Berkeley-Albany Red Cross, the classes are practical and streamlined. No notebooks will be used, no special equipment is needed—just 12 hours of time, plus energy and interest. Mrs. Crawford explained, Call Berkeley Red Cross, Berkeley 1430, as soon as possible, to register for the few remaining openings.

Apology that comes from the heart will keep most troubles from coming to a head.

ONE extra penny is a hot penny when it exceeds the ceiling price! It can endanger the whole structure of price control!

So far, the shoppers and grocers of America have done a great job in keeping prices down. But the battle is really just beginning. In the last war, prices went sky-high AFTER the Armistice.

So keep your eye on the OPA price lists in the stores!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

For the subject "Love" the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon on August 5 has the following Golden Text: "We have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).

Excerpts from the sermon include: "Fear not, little flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom" (Luke 12:32); and this citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "He that touches the hem of Christ's robe and masters his mortal beliefs, animality, and hate, rejoices in the proof of healing—in a sweet and certain sense that God is Love" (p. 569).
